

*Our nation was again to be great
Free of shackles, no vassal state
Yet distillers of the people's voice
Became artisans of poison choice
Hearing Trumpet notes of a deal
But deaf to uncertainties the people feel
Meanwhile, Brussels wants its example set
That others won't escape the net
So now, which vassal role are we to play?
Euroland; or USA?
False distillers of the people's voice
Master artisans of poison choice
Crafting bitter drinks with taste so bad
That the people will ask ...
Exactly, how is this better than what we had?*
